

On Bhairava

Soumadeep Ghosh

Kolkata, India

Abstract

In this paper, I describe Bhairava.
The paper ends with "The End"

Introduction

The word Bhairava both inspires happiness and terror in individuals from every economy.
In this paper, I describe Bhairava.

Bhairava

Bhairava is the fusion of both Vishnu the maintainer and Shiva the destroyer.

Bhairava is the common avatar of both Vishnu and Shiva and appears during the Kali yuga to perform both duties - maintenance of what needs to be maintained and destruction of what needs to be destroyed.

In the former, Bhairava inspires happiness and in the latter, Bhairava inspires terror. Therefore, individuals find conflicting accounts of Bhairava in the world.

Bhairava can't be defeated by anybody else

Since Bhairava is both Vishnu the maintainer and Shiva the destroyer, Bhairava can't be defeated by anybody else.

Bhairava in heaven

Once the worldly duties of Bhairava are finished, Bhairava returns back to heaven, where Bhairava reports to the new Brahma and the Satya Yuga begins.

The End